ABOUT DRS

Diversity Restoration Solutions, Inc. (DRS), is a business tourism and project development entity based in Newport News, VA. Established in 1991 as a part-time endeavor, to its current focus in 2003. DRS is led by President/CEO Eric A. Sheppard. He has utilized history to focus on the restoration and healing of American Africans affected by the legacy of slavery and reconnecting this community back to its African roots. Eric Sheppard's inspiration comes from the legacy of his Ancestor named Moses Grandy.

Moses Grandy was an enslaved person from Camden County, NC, who purchased his freedom three time before being set free. Moses' life story was written in an 1843 slave narrative published by the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society entitled, The Life of Moses Grandy; Late a Slave in the United States of America.

Eric's research has evolved to exploring the ancestral and historical connections between the maroon community and Underground Railroad stories surrounding the Great Dismal Swamp & Canal in Northeastern North Carolina and Southeastern Virginia with the Barotseland Kingdom in Western Province, Zambia.

PROGRAMS & PROJECTS

-The Underground Railroad (UGRR) Experience - Group tour that explores key UGRR sites in North Carolina and Virginia as mentioned in the slave narratives of Moses Grandy and Charles Grandy

-Homecoming Network™ - An unprecedented initiative to network individuals, families, community organizations and businesses through culture and compatible business interest with DRS Homecoming Network countries in Africa. Subscription is open to all who value the potential of mutually beneficial economic solutions and strategic partnerships.

Subscriptions are $10.00/year for individuals or $100.00/year for businesses or organizations.

-Africa Homecoming Pilgrimage™ - Return to Africa to commemorate the 400th year milestone of surviving the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade of our ancestors under British rule starting in Virginia in 1619. The Pilgrimage destination is Zambia, where DRS has been granted land to build the Homecoming Headquarters at Restoration Center™, a facility to reconnect the Homecoming Network subscribers to the continent of Africa developing opportunities in tourism, trade and cultural restoration.
